

Keys to Off-Campus Living

OFF-CAMPUS LIVING

The Key to Off-Campus Living...

As a college student, opening the door to your very own apartment/house can be an exciting, challenging, and at times, frightening experience. Often, the anticipation of moving into an apartment or house will lead students to make hasty decisions.

The Office of Off-Campus Living, a division of Student Affairs recognizes that there are many facts that students should be aware of before and after making the decision to live in the community. That is why our trained staff is always willing to assist students with any concern related to living off-campus.

There are many decisions involved with living off-campus; some are good and some are bad. However, the worst decision you can make regarding living off-campus is to fail to take advantage of the services of the Office of Off-Campus living.

A Closer Look at Off-Campus Living...

Resource:

The Office of Off-Campus Living is a resource to all students who may have questions, problems, concerns, or needs regarding moving and living off-campus. It also advises students in a variety of areas including:

- The Housing Fair
- Lease information
- Landlord/Tenant Rights and Responsibilities
- Security Deposit Issues
- Roommate Concerns

More About Off-Campus Living...

About Off Campus Student Union...

The Office of Off-Campus Living assists OCSU (Off Campus Student Union), a student organization. Information on living off campus is available to currently enrolled students, on- or off-campus, as well OCSU as individuals planning to attend PSU. It is a student organization designed to help students with town-related concerns. Each year OCSU prints the Apartment List which contains information on the majority of rental units in the State College area.

For more information, please contact:

Office of Off-Campus Living
125 HUB-Robeson Center
University Park, PA 16802